

SCENE FROM "MUTT AND JEFF," OPERA HOUSE MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1914.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

"Mutt and Jeff in Mexico."

True to his promise, Gus Hill offers a new vehicle each successive season for Bud Fisher's eccentric character conceptions "Mutt & Jeff." One cannot imagine the arduous labor attached to the task of furnishing a new book for the ludicrous frolics of those two ill-mated comics, for the reason that the pace set by the original production is a hard one to follow. There must be a laugh to every line of "Mutt & Jeff" dialogue, a scream to every situation, the audience looks for it and it must be forthcoming. New ones, mind, not old time worn "gags," however, Mr. Hill has succeeded admirably in keeping faith with his patrons and has offered a suitable and satisfactory book for the past four years. "Mutt and Jeff in Mexico" bids fair to prove the most successful of all former productions under the title, which alone suggests humor even to the layman's mind. Wonderful opportunities are offered for scenic display and light effects, which have been taken advantage of to their fullest extent. The first scene is laid at Annapolis Naval Academy, when a probable war is announced with Mexico. A battleship is about to sail for Vera Cruz under sealed order. "Mutt & Jeff" disguised as secret service men, succeed in obtaining passage to Vera Cruz. Once on board the battleship the fun begins and continues for nearly three hours, interrupted of course, by some tuneful chorus numbers, songs dances and tango manoeuvres or specialty features.

For the coming season Mr. Hill offers the most capable company of performers he has ever been able to gather together. Those two "comics," "Mutt & Jeff" with their entire official family will come to the Opera House next Monday, September 21. Past experience with Gus Hill's "Standing Room Only" sign, should have taught you to secure seats in advance and void disappointment.

TWELVE PERISHED IN FROZEN NORTH

Dozen of Karluk's Men Lost After Wreck—Eleven Others Safe.

Nome, Alaska, Sept. 13 (Delayed in Transmission).—Twelve members of the Stefansson Arctic expedition have perished, it was learned today when the United States revenue cutter Bear arrived with 11 survivors of the exploration ship Karluk's crew, rescued from Wrangell island by the gasoline schooner King and Winge and transferred to the Bear 75 miles from Wrangell island.

The Karluk was crushed in the ice last January and part of the crew, after incredible hardships and perils, reached Wrangell island, but 70 miles distant on March 12 with 79 days' rations. These were exhausted about June 4. Death by starvation and cold was ever near the castaway until September 6, when the rescue ship arrived. The King and Winge, after leaving Nome September 3, went to East Cape, Siberia, to take on Eskimos and skin boats. She then laid her course for Rogers harbor, Wrangell island, arriving there about 1:30 o'clock on the night of September 6. Four Eskimos in a skin boat went ashore and brought back a number of men. The schooner then proceeded to the other side of the island, where it plowed up the remaining survivors. A black and white cat picked up by the Karluk's crew at Victoria, B. C., last year also was rescued.

Counting the eight men who perished on the ice while trying to reach land, after the Karluk was crushed, the three who died on Wrangell island, and Andrew Norman of the Anderson party, who committed suicide by shooting while insane from exposure, 12 men of the Stefansson expedition have died.

After the Karluk was crushed in the ice north of Herald island last January, her party camped on ice for some time. Finally they decided to make for Wrangell island. They divided into parties and set out. The party led by Dr. Forbes-Mackey changed its mind and headed for the Siberian shore. It repented and was seen to lay its course again for Wrangell island. Four days later, in the third week of February, a terrible blizzard raged which opened the ice in all directions and churned it. There was no hope that any of the eight escaped, but the survivors on Wrangell island searched in every direction for the eight lost men, going even to Herald island.

After their rations were exhausted, the castaways subsided on whatever food they were able to gather. They killed three polar bears and many seals and birds.

How to Keep Young.

In the September Woman's Home Companion Ralph Waldo Trine, writing an article, entitled "What is Youth?—What After Youth?" writes in part as follows:

"A very general rule with but few exceptions can be laid down as follows: The body ordinarily looks as old as the mind thinks and feels.

"Shakespeare anticipated by many years the best psychology of the times when he said: 'It is the mind that makes the body rich.' An eminent modern writer has given utterance to the same truth more fully and more helpfully, perhaps in the following: 'The prevailing state of mind, or character of thought shapes the body and features. It makes us ugly or pleasing, attractive or repulsive to others. Our thought shapes our gestures, our mannerism our walk. The least movement of muscle has a mood of mind, a thought, behind it. A mind always determined, has always a determined walk. A mind always weak, shifting, vacillating and uncertain, makes a shuffling, shambling, uncertain gait. The spirit of determination braces every muscle. It is the thought-element of determination filling every muscle. . . . If you send from you in thought the elements, of worry, fret, hatred, or grief, you are putting in action forces injurious to your mind and body. . . . Look at the discontented, gloomy, melancholy, and ill-tempered men or women, and you see in their faces proofs of the action of this silent force of their unpleasant thought, cutting, carving and shaping them to their present expression. Such people are never in good health, for that force acts on them as a poison, and creates some form of disease."

The Twilight of Kings.

Exchange.
The hellish crash of shells that speed to kill,
The red, red shrieks that rend the war-cursed air,
Foul slaughter's sounds from every vale and hill,
Ten thousands dying while ten thousands cheer.
Oh, kings, these are your death knells; these on high
Scream to a world that you must be no more.
Wail that the despot's twilight time is nigh,
Inscribe your fall with every drop of gore.
Each moan that rises from a widow's heart,
Each sob that shakes a virgin sweet heart's breast,
Each tear that falls as child and father part,
Proclaims your sun is downing in the west.

OUR FRIENDS IN PROSPERITY

Give Added Praise. Their Statements Are Convincing.

It is gratifying for us to read such good news, as the following, for it shows that the experience of our friends in Prosperity is the same as that of many Newberry men and women who have spoken out so heartily in these columns:

Mrs. J. M. Wheeler, Prosperity, S. C., says: "My kidneys were disordered for a long time, causing terrible pains through my loins and limbs. I also had a constant ache in my back and on some occasions, I could scarcely get about. The kidney secretions were unnatural and annoyed me greatly. I consulted several physicians and tried a number of kidney remedies, but did not improve in the least. I had about given up the hope of ever being cured, when my son-in-law procured a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills for me at Newberry Drug Co. He had read that they were good for kidney trouble and induced me to try them. I did so and after I had taken two boxes, the backache had left and my kidneys were normal."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wheeler had. Foster Milburn Co., Props, Buffalo, N. Y.
